

Subject: Geostrategy in the 21st Century	CODE: KDRIDK323	Credits/ECTS: 3
Lecture type <sup>1</sup> : lecture / seminar / consultation & number: seminars, 2 classes per week
A progress checking type: (examination / practical grade / others <sup>2</sup> ): examination and interim written report (homework)
Position of the subject is the curriculum (which semester): fall
Prerequisites ( if there are ): none
Subject description: brief introduction to the knowledge to be acquired and the concise, but informative description of the competencies to be developed: Knowledge: The course includes the facts of the appreciation of geography in the future of the global economy, in economic governance and administration. It presents the process of networking together with the structural transformation of the world economy, the significance and measurement methods of network hubs. All this is an important piece of knowledge in order to successfully improve the position of Hungary or a similar size country in geostrategic, geopolitical and global economic environments in the state of the nation's state administration and in the management and preparation of the economic and strategic processes and decisions. Competence: Students who complete the course will be able to recognize networks and network hubs in the world's economic sphere; gaining experience in measuring the global and nation-wide effects of networks; they gain a broad spectrum of global and regional economy-strategic position recognition and planning. They have the competence to take positions in economic-strategic decision-making centers of governmental organizations, financial institutions and multinational centers carrying out regional and global economic planning.
List the 2-4 most important compulsory and recommended literature (notes, textbooks) with bibliographic information (author, title, release details, pages, ISBN)
Compulsory literature, textbook: Geofusion. (Mapping of the A 21st Century). Author: Norbert Csizmadia. L'Harmattan Publisher, Paris – Torino – Budapest, 2017. 592 p. ISBN: 6610000035670 Recommended literature: Regional Geography and Economy of the European Countries. Author: István Tózsá. Textbook ISP course 293NPADV362B, Corvinus University of Budapest. 2014. 168 p. http://unipub.lib.uni-corvinus.hu/1672/1/ISP_Textbook_Tozsa.pdf
Lecturer responsible for the subject ( name, position, degree ): Dr. Balázs Bartóki-Gönczy PhD

<sup>1</sup> Higher Education Law Section 147. lecture: an occupation requiring personal co-operation by the instructor (lecture, seminar, practice, consultation) to fulfill the study requirements specified in the curriculum

<sup>2</sup> e.g. interim report