

|   |                        |                        |
|---|------------------------|------------------------|
| Course title: The History of Local Governments and Autonomies  | Code: KDRIDK311 | Credit value: 3 |
| Type of class <sup>1</sup> : lect /sem /prac /cons, number of classes: lecture (full-time 10 hours; part-time 5 hours)  |                        |                        |
| Knowledge assessment (exam / coursework mark / other <sup>2</sup> ): exam   |                        |                        |
| Semester position of the course in the curriculum (which semester): first semester  |                        |                        |
| Preliminary study requirements ( if applicable ): -  |                        |                        |
| Course description:Students get familiar with the most important traditions of Hungarian public administration, the traditions that are governing for professionals in public administration even today. Professional content:We introduce the traditions of Hungarian public administration and tendencies which have had their effect up till now and determine a lot of operational components of the Hungarian state and municipalities. Competence:The course provides students with higher level theoretical basis. They become familiar with the trends of historical development and traditions that are governing still today.  |                        |                        |
| List of the 3-5 most important obligatory and optional literature (lecture notes, course book) with bibliographic data (author, title, publishing data, pages, ISBN)   |                        |                        |
| Obligatory literature: Magyary, Z. (1942) Hungarian Public Administration. The Role of Public Administration in the 20th Century State. The Structure, Operation and Legal Order of Hungarian Public Administration. Budapest, Királyi Magyar Egyetemi Nyomda ISBN 963 7612 93 3 Csizmadia, A. (1976) The Development of Hungarian Public Administration from the 18th Century until the Formation of the Council State. Budapest, Akadémiai Kiadó ISBN 963 05 0713 7 Nagy, E. – Rácz, L. (2007) Hungarian Constitutional and Public Administration History. Budapest, hvgorac Lap- és Könyvkiadó Kft. ISBN 978 963 7490 67 5 Optional literature: Erekly, I.(1917) Studies on Legal History and Administrative Law. Vol. I-II. Eperjes, Henrik Sziklai Publishing (no ISBN number) Horváth, A. The Administrative Law of Soviet – Type of Dictatorships. In: Balogh, E. – Homoki-Nagy, M (Ed.) (2010) Memorial Book for the 70th Birthday of Dr. József Ruszoly University Professor. Szeged, SZTE JGYPK Juhász Gyula Felsőoktatási pp. 359 – 374. ISBN 978-963-9927-20-9 |                        |                        |
| Name of lecturer responsible for the course Dr Attila Horváth Head of Institute Professor  |                        |                        |
| Lecturer(s) involved in teaching the course, -   |                        |                        |

<sup>1</sup> Act on Higher Education Art.147, a class is an engagement with the personal participation of the lecturer in order to meet the study requirements defined in the curriculum (lecture, seminar, practice, consultation).

<sup>2</sup> pl. évközi beszámoló