- Duration: 6 semesters, 180 ECTS
- Study location: Budapest, Hungary
- Language: English
- Tuition fee: EUR 2,300 / semester
- Qualification: International Public Service Manager

In today's fast-changing world, new priorities and global disruptions demand a fresh breed of public administrators and leaders. This programme is designed to prepare students to tackle modern challenges with a solid understanding of European heritage, the complexities of globalisation, and the disruptive forces shaping our future, such as social media and artificial intelligence. Graduates will be ready for roles in international organisations, national public administration, including diplomatic services, and the private sector, particularly in government and international relations positions.

Graduates will be well-prepared to take on administrative and organisational roles in international organisations or work as managers in public and private sectors focusing on government or international relations.

The mission of the programme is to equip students with the skills needed to manage international relations within public administration, including cooperation with institutions of the European Union, its Member States, and third countries.
